The importance of collagen

Collagen is the essential nutrient to replenish the human body to delay aging and is widely found in the human skin, bones, muscles, cartilage, joints, hair and other tissues, with support, repair, protection of the triple anti-aging effect.

With age, collagen will gradually lose, leading to the skin support of collagen peptide bonds and elastic mesh fracture, the skin will appear dry, wrinkles, relaxation and inelastic aging phenomenon. Collagen binds calcium to bone cells, avoiding bone loss caused by calcium loss.

Therefore, collagen supplementation is necessary. The most effective collagen supplement is oral, pure natural small molecule collagen peptides (molecules less than 1000 Dalton) to enter the dermis to help repair the skin and rebuild the collagen layer.

Depletion of Collagen According to Age

How much collagen left in your skin?

Q&A

● Q: Who should take LuCOL-S?

A: Collagen starts to deplete at the age of 20 (for ladies). It can be also damaged by exposure of direct sunlight, pollution (including smoking or secondhand smoking) and illness. It is not difficult to know if you are lacking in collagen: your skin will look rough and dry, wrinkle is seen on faces, breast starts to sag, having joint pain and etc. If you are experiencing with these occurrences, LuCOL-S is definitely suitable for you.

● Q: People often relate collagen consumption with weight gain, is it true?

A: It really depends on the formulation of the product. LuCOL-S is formulated to align with low calories diet concept, therefore you can comfortably erase your worries on weight gain for long term consumption.

● Q: Is LuCOL-S only suitable for ladies?

A: Collagen depletion occurs in everyone's body under the circumstances mentioned above. Hence LuCOL-S is suitable for the gentlemen as well.
